

Introducing a New Update to the RiverSafe Website

Autumn is a time of change and here at RiverSafe we're no exception. We have been working hard to develop and evolve our website to provide you with the best possible experience and we are pleased to share the results. Regular visitors to the site may have recently noticed that we have made some important quality of life changes to the site's structure and layout. Everything from the homepage to our resources section has been completely updated to improve your time on the site.

Time is precious, and we know that many within our industry are constantly working on projects and tasks. We recognised that keeping up with industry trends is important, but that information needs to be quickly and easily digestible. That was the rationale behind the changes to our site and so we have streamlined it with a brand-new design.

Right from the homepage everything is to the point, with our company mission statement front and centre, alongside the latest updates for returning visitors. Just below, a link to all our solutions can be found so readers can easily navigate to what interests them. Finally, we cap it off with our Splunk Partner of the Year award that we wear with pride. With this new homepage, we have made sure that all the important information is front and centre.

Even though the homepage is streamlined, this does not mean that the website lacks important information. Head over to any of our solution pages and you can find our brand-new data sheets. These data sheets have everything needed for those looking to understand the RiverSafe proposition and we recommend everyone reads them to learn more about how RiverSafe can help solve your problems.

Those looking for information outside of RiverSafe's proprietary offerings can check out our customer and vendor pages, as well as our brand-new Resources tab. Visitors to the site can find everything from case studies, breaking news, testimonials, brochures and, of course, this very blog. These pages are designed to contribute valuable information to the industry and demonstrate our talented team's work in the field.

We have put a lot of work into this overhaul and we're proud of the result, but we won't be resting on our laurels. Keep an eye out in the future for more updates to the RiverSafe website and if you have any enquiries for us then head over to our contact page and drop us an e-mail. We look forward to hearing from you!